

The Domestic Violence Resource Center along with Apple City Broadcasting would like to invite everyone to stop by their booth on Friday, July 10th from 10 am until 12p.m. at the Taylorsville Walmart for our very first Care-A-Thon. Due to severe state and federal budget cuts we are experiencing a financial crisis. Our goal is to raise $25,000 to offset these cuts and to ensure that the safe shelter for battered women and children will remain open. The safe shelter opened in July 2003. Since then we have served over 500 women and children with a safe place to stay, food, clothing, as well as our other services. In addition to shelter residents we provided victim and court advocacy to over 800 new and duplicated, women, men, and children annually. You can help us preserve the shelter by calling 828-635-8850 to phone in your pledge, by giving online via our website: dvrcalexander.org, or by simply dropping off your gift at our Care-A-Thon booth. Your gifts are tax deductible. Many thanks for all of your past, present, and future support from the DVRC Board of Directors.
